Paint pouches make a big splash

Tired of trying to pick the perfect color from a tiny paint chip?

Color consultant Gretchen Schaufler was, too, so she decided to do something about it.

Samples of her Devine Colors are offered in Mini-Paint Pouches, so you can try the color on your wall. "That way, you can audition a small amount of paint without the cost, commitment or waste of a quart," Schaufler says. Also available: sheet-sized (8½-by-11-inch) paint chips.

Pouches, which cover 4 square feet, sell for $3 to $4 at paint retailers (see devinecolor.com for stores) or can be ordered online. Paint sheets are available online for $1.99.
